How Fax2Mail Works

Users can send, receive, save, file, forward and track faxes in seconds-right from their desktops. Work is accomplished faster, with added security and total reliability. Fax2Mail works with our clients' existing platforms for Internet access and email. Traffic is forwarded through Xpedite's high-speed, high-volume global network with total transparency to end-users. To send faxes, virtually all common document files, spreadsheets and graphic image files are automatically converted to outbound faxes. When a user receives a fax, Fax2Mail automatically forwards it to the assigned user's email box as an Adobe® PDF or TIFF attachment with notification in the subject line. Clients maintain total control over administration of their accounts through a secure Web interface including user registration, coversheet/email design, billing and delivery report options. Fax2Mail provides local or freephone inbound numbers or clients may also route existing fax numbers through our system. Faxes are automatically stored on our system for 30 days for proof of delivery and backup.
